Publish glad tidings. At last we can be messengers of joy and announce that one of the ten neediest families in Atlanta will not suffer next year. Three innocent, wistful, tow-headed youngsters are going to grow up happily and honestly. Three happy American kiddies aren't going to be pushed down into the underworld of desperation and forced to steal a miserable pittance, or a discarded crust from your posterity. The new Fox theater has given them their chance to live, by subscribing completely "Opportunity No. 2."

E. L. Hardegree was arrested by city officers June 24 of this year, fol-lowing an altercation with J. J. Grif-fin, deputy collector of the internal revenue department, at the offices of the Cuban Cigar Company, 142 1-2 Edgewood avenue, where Hardegree was employed. Griffin was taken

Grady hospital suffering from severe cuts and bruises about the head.

According to Griffin's account of the affair, the fight was started after Hardegree had tried to draw him into an argument regarding the attitude of the republican administration on the race question. Griffin refused to talk about the matter as he was engaged in an audit of the company's books in his regular line of duty and did not wish to be drawn into any discussion, he stated. Diagnosis: Now prevalent. Attacks skin between fingers, also toes, arm pit, elbow, groin and thigh. Intolerable itching compels scratching, which only spreads infestation.

Intensive training schedules for various companies during the winter and spring months were the topic of discussion at Monday night's doiling of the 192d infanter. Colonel riod of the 122d infantry. Colonel Gerald P. O'Keeffe, commanding officer, dealt fully with training work and emphasized that rigid inspection would be made at regular intervals to determine advancement of troops n program features.

Colonel O'Keeffe warmly praised officers and men for the splendid show-ing made in the recent parade in honor of the Cuban good-will party, and pointed out that "this regiment, sponsored and backed by loyal At-lantans, owes allegiance to civic duties and will cheerfully work in every way for advancement and the progress of the city."

In speaking to the officers of the regiment just before the drill period Colonel O'Keeffe pointedly referred to certain phases of the fall and winter program which would be emphasized in inspections and called upon all officers to see that recruits particulatly were "started off in the proper spirit and in the proper manner to understand the groundwork and fundamentals of the 'national guard."
The regimental commander stated

dementals of the 'national guard.'

The regimental commander stated that "loyalty and the spirit of the national guardsman should be first appealed to and that officers should instill this spirit of devotion and loyalty to the country by appealing to the patriotism and love of country.' After a brief address by the commanding officer the officers' meeting was adjourned and officers went at once to take command of companies and begin the vigorous training schedule laid out jointly by the regular army instructor personnel and Colonel O'Keeffe.

DENVER, Col., Dec. 9 .- (A)-Ben B. Lindsey, militant exponent of com panionate marriage and noted former Denver juvenile court judge, today was disbarred from the practice of law in Colorado by the state supreme law in Colorado by the state supreme court for accepting money from a prominent New York and Denver society matron for legal services while he was on the bench.

Lindsey immediately upon being apprised of the decision, issued a statement asserting he was the victim of political persecution.

The former juvenile judge was charged specifically by the bar association with accepting $37,500 from Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, divorced wife of W. E. D. Stokes, New York multi-millionaire, for services in contesting Stokes' will which cut off his two children by the second Mrs. Stokes, James and Helen Muriel, without bequests.

Through Lindsey's interest in the Stokes case the mother was able to obtain for her two children approximately $3,000,000 from the estate of her former husband, in addition to $156,500 for services as guardian of the children under an order issued by Lindsey as judge of the juvenile $156,500 for services as guardian of the children under an order issued by Lindsey as judge of the juvenile court. Her remuneration was in the form of stocks in a company organized by the estate using these as collateral. She borrowed the money to pay Lindsey, the record sets forth. The will left the money to W. E. D. Stokes, Jr., a son by a former marriage. The case was settled out of court by agreement.

Contending he had befriended Mrs. Stokes, that his services to her were disassociated from his work in the juvenile court and that he acted "merely as arbitrator and mediator," "merely as arbitrator and mediator," Lindsey denied in his argument before the supreme court that his practices had been unethical. The $37,500 received from Mrs. Stokes, he asserted, was a "gift," as was $10,000 received from Sanuel Untermyer, of New York, an attorney for Mrs.
Stokes.

Lindsey contended the "gift" he had received from Mrs. Stokes had been

LAVARRE ENTERS SUPERSEDEAS WRIT IN MACON COURT

MACON, Ga., Dec. 9 .- (AP)-A pe tition for a writ of supersedeas which would have the effect of temporarily suspending activities in con-nection with litigation between Har-old Hall and William LaVarre over old Hall and William LaVarre over operation of four Georgia and South Carolina newspapers, was presented today to Federal Judge Bascom S. Deaver by counsel for LaVarre.

After lengthy discussion of the petition by attorneys for both sides, Judge Deaver adjourned the hearing until tomorrow morning. LaVarre was not present at the informal meeting held in Judge Deaver's chambers.

The writ was filed originally last week in the New Orleans circuit cour of appeals and referred back to Judge of appeals and referred back to Judge Deaver for decision. It sought spe-cifically to supersede that part of a court decree of September 30 by which LaVarre was directed to transfer to J. T. Webb, Jr., court commissioner, the stock of the Columbia (S. C.) Record and the Spartanburg (S. C.) Herald and Journal.

LOS ANGELES. Dec. 9.—(P)—Asserting he was making the announcement as an "antidote for gossip-mongers," Harry Richman, musical comedy actor and night club entertainer, said here today that he and Clara Bow, motion picture player, would be married in New York city on New Year's Day. They have been engaged for several months.

The announcement of the wedding date was made after Richman had conferred last night with Miss Bow, who is in a hospital convalescing from an appendicitis operation. Miss Bow previously had declined to name the wedding day, but consistently has demiced rumors that her engagement to Richman had been broken off.

"Clara and I never were more in love than we are right now," Richman said. "She will leave the hospital some time this week, and shortly afterward I am leaving for New York, where she will join me on Christmas Day. We will be married New Year's Day."

Richman said he and Miss Bow

Attack Upon
Young Girl

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 9.—(P)—
Police today began an intensive investigation of reports of an attack upon a 13-year-old white girl by a negro and an unsuccessful attempt by a negro to kidnap a young white married woman, two incidents which occurred last night within a half hour of each other in widely separated sections of the city.

The negro in both cases employed a rope, but authorities were inclined to believe the crimes were committed by two persons. Several suspects were in custody, but none was identified positively.

The 23-year-old married woman said a negro threw a rope about her need as she left a store, but that her screams attracted a man from a dwelling nearby and the negro fled in an ecovered later by police was believed to have been used by the negro.

The 13-year-old girl was seized with a rope, driven to an outlying section of the city and returned by

Case Will Determine If Georgia Is to Add Large Sum to Yearly Income.

SUSPECTS HELD HERE Test of the constitutionality of the Boykin income tax act started Monday morning before Judge E. D. Two men, A. R. Hampton, 24, and Thomas in Fulton superior court and will be completed late this afternoon or Wednesday morning. The hearing before Judge Thomas is the first court skirmish in a battle which is expected to go through the state supreme court and perhaps the United States supreme court, in determining whether or not Georgia will add a large sum of money to her yearly revenue from a tax similar to the income levy by the federal government.

Find a man, woman or child who is afflicted with catarrh of the nose and its connecting air passages and you will always find a patient who is most susceptible to more serious diseases. Why? Science explains that catarrh interferes with natural breathing, thus preventing proper purification of the blood by the lungs and also prevents refreshing sleep. Catarrh is a constant drain upo the nutrition of the body, making the patient weak and thereby susceptible to diseases such as head and chest colds. Your physician will tell you that catarrh is a local condition, not a systemic disease. You must fight it constantly with a local remedy that reaches the spot. Tribute Is Paid "Uncle Remus" In Many Cities

The entire nation, and Georgia in particular, Monday paid 'tribute to the memory of Joel Chandler Harris, creator of "Uncle Remus." It was SI years ago Monday that Harris was born. Appropriate services marking the day were held by organizations throughout the country.

Gilbert Pearson, president of the National Audubon Society, was principal speaker at a luncheon of the Uncle Remus Memorial Association held Monday at the Georgian Terrace hotel to pay annual tribute to Harris. Mr. Pearson plans to visit the Wren's Nest, the Harris home, while here.

Frederic J. Paxon acted as toastmaster at the luncheon, with Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, life president of the association, presiding. Forty-eight guests were present.

Plans for erection of a marble fountain on the grounds at the Wren's Nest, a monument to Uncle Remus, were announced. Members of the advisory board who attended were Willis A. Sutton. Eugene Black, Joseph McCord, Edwin Johnson, J. B. Nevin, Colonel J. C. Woodward and Arthur Wilson. Alfred Perry, English newspaperman, was an honor guest.

First Aid For Colds

The medical profession has not yet isolated or classified the cold germ, but we have learned that quickest relief is always had when the system is first thoroughly cleansed of its poisonous waste matter, which you can accomplish in from 60 to 90 minwith a preparation known as Alertox, a new chemical discovery through a process of elimination, thoroughly cleanses the system of its impurities, reducing the excess flow of secretions and, at the same time, decreases acidity. Bad cold germs do not propagate unless the system is too acid.

Alertox will remove, in one action more poison bile from the system than any other known formula, and may be had at any drug store in 60c and $1 bottles. Use it as a first aid for Ars Willebrandt's charges were aired Monday before the Brookhart patronage committee when she reported by letter that during her term of office United States District Attorney J. E. D. Meyer, of South Carolina, had never co-operated "very well" with the prohibition administration and that she had recommended his dismissal but that her recommendations was never acted on.

Reports which she said were received from Solicitor General John A. Boykin in 1926 formed a major part of her testingony and these were said to reveal "a very bad state of affairs around Charleston and Atlanta."

Solicitor Boykin said here Monday that he had sent Mrs. Willebrandt some information which had been given him by a local federal prisoner but had heard nothing from her since. He explained that he was investigating another matter at the time and that he believed that statements of the prisoner should be referred to her department.

Auto Is Symbol of American

:: Motoring in U. S. and England Compared by Journalist Prosperity, Britisher Finds

Atlanta is growing more typical of modern America with every day that passes. Already the streets of her chief business district run through Alike in Appearance.

In outward appearance British and American cars do not vary much today, since the development of body work in both countries has tended to converge in the past few years. Perhaps British designers show a greater preference for straight lines over curves in their designs. And it is not uncommon to see in place of paint a colored fabric finish, used either on ordinary steel panels or stretched over a special "featherweight" frame built with flexible joints to prevent distortion by road shocks.

But the chief difference between British and American machines is in the power of their motors. This is due mainly to the high rate of the British annual tax, $5 per cylinder horsepower, which compels our manufacturers to produce small high-efficiency engines for the popular market. Moreover, the higher fuel consumption of a large motor is a serious drawback when gasoline costs 32 cents the (American) gallon. So the average British car ranges from ten to fifteen cylinder horsepower, with a gas converse to the produce of the consumption of the produce of the canyons whose cliffs are tower-ing office build-ings with their window-speckled sides. And her er with purring, honking herds of motor cars. They give above all the world touch. of a European, America and aumated steel which sweep on every side give the first and most enduring picture of the great re-public. Every man and woman, rich or poor, young or old, seems to have And even the children are not for-And even the children are not forgotten, for outside many a high school he finds serried ranks of battered flivvers waiting while their youthful owners climb the stony paths of learning upon foot. Almost the auto has become a sacred symbol of American prosperity, a deity which exacts its monthly tribute of installments from the humblest home.

Many More Car Owners. So'clock tonight
I. N. Ragsdale this one is supported by the facts.

For in the United States one person out of every five owns a car. In Britain the owners are but one in forty. Over there the automobile still is a sign of comfortable circumstances, a luxury beyond the reach of ordinary clerks and artisans, much less "uu-skilled" workers. Indeed, any married man with less than $2,500 a year who indulges in such an extravagance probably will be regarded by his neighbors as a reckless fellow, likely to come to a bad end through following the horses or gambling on the stock exchange.

For this state of affairs, so surprising to Americans, there are two principal reasons. Firstly, distances in Birtain are very short and rail communications excellent, so that a car is munications excellent, so that a car is not the practical necessity which it is in the United States,. Secondly, cars cost on an average nearly twice as much as they do here. The popular family saloon cannot be obtained for less than $900 and ever the little "babies" cost more than $600. For the economy of such large-scale production as is practiced here is impossible for British manufacturers, whose cost on an average nearly twice as much as they observed a much as they observed as the common of such large-scale production as is practiced here is impossible for British manufacturers, osceromy of such large-scale production as is practiced here is impossible for British manufacturers, osceromy of such large-scale production as is practiced here is impossible for British manufacturers, osceromy of such large-scale production owing to the lower standard of the American and whose actual patrons fall far below this fraction owing to the lower standard of the American and whose actual patrons fall far below this fraction owing to the lower standard of the American and whose actual patrons fall far below this fraction owing to the lower standard of the American and whose actual patrons fall far below this fraction owing to the lower standard of the American and whose actual patrons fall far below this fraction owing to the lower standard of the American and whose actual patrons fall far below this fraction owing to the lower standard of the American and whose actual patrons fall far below this fraction owing to the lower standard of the American and whose actual patrons fall far below this fraction owing to the lower standard of the American and whose actual patrons fall far below this fraction owing to the lower standard of the American in this patrons fall far below this fraction owing to the lower standard of the American in this patrons fall far below this fraction owing to the lower standard of the fall far below this fraction owing the lower standard of the fall far below this fraction owing the lower standard of the fall far below this fraction owing the fall far below this fraction owing the law the lower standard of the fall far below this fraction owing the fall far below this

More Showers Due Today' Forecast Says

Continuing its changeable policy of the past few days, "unsettled weather" is due for Atlanta today with a good chance for showers this afternoon, according to the latest prediction of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist. Little change in temperature is indicated for the time being, he says. The expected range is from approximately 48 up to a little over 60, which would duplicate

Monday's extremes.

The outlook for the week is for "mostly" clear skies with occasional periods of precipitation, according to the Washington bureau. Moderate temperatures are expected to be followed by "considerably colder" (American) gallon. So the average British car ranges from ten to fifteen cylinder horsenower, with a gas consumption of one gallon for 25 to 30 miles. But in spite of their most costly upkeep several American makes are old favorites in Britain, especially among persons such as "society" doctors and company promoters who prefer a large, imposing car for business reasons but cannot afford the price of a British model of such fine appearance. temperatures are expected to be fol-lowed by "considerably colder" weather this week-end.

Threatening cloudy weather was re-ported Monday from numerous points in the western cotton belt with gen-eral rains in Texas and snow and low temperatures in the north. "considerably colder"

Quaker Politics Is Queer. Nowhere else in America does politics cut up queerer didoes than in Pennsylvania. He could even now resign as governor and allowing. Lieutenate Governor He could even now resign as governor, allowing Lieutenant Governor Beidlemean to succeed him and then appoint him to the vacancy. But the vacancy only lasts until March 3, 1931, and involves a probable contest in the next May primary, so it is more probable that Governor Fisher would be a stronger candidate while governor at home than as an absentee

Besides, there is another lively suspicion that General Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and republican national committeeman for the state, would also enjoy being a senator of the United States. It is even hinted that should Grundy refuse a tender of the now vacant seat Atterbury may be named to fill it. COMMISSION SLASHES NATURAL GAS RATE

John W. Weekes, city attorney of Decatur, which joined with Atlanta in its protests, also was pleased at the new rate. He withheld any comment on the future attitude of his city until after he had seen the mayor and other officials. Greater Reductions Seen.

With the reduction in the quantity of fuel used, arising from the greater heating value of natural gas, 600 cubi feet of which will do the work of 1,000 cubic feet of artificial gas, an even greater decrease in the bills of the individual customers will consider commercial rates. It stated that it would publish a commercial gas rate at some time before January gas rate at some time before January 1, when natural gas will be introduced into the Atlanta mains. "For obvious reasons, gas for this type of service will be at lower rates than gas for domestic consumption," the order said. In arriving at the new rate the commission took cognizance of im-provements, estimated at $1,000,000, being carried out by the gas ing of Atlanta fuel, but ruled that full consideration of their value as a factor entering into fixing the amount of the rate could not be given at this time. It would work a hardship on present customers, it was stated, i the cost incident to the extension of territory were taken into full consid

Valuation of $11,306,928. Valuation of $11,306,928 was placed on the company for the purposes of fixing the rate, under the legal rule that requires that rates fixed for a public utility company should provide for a reasonable return upon the investment. This figure was based on a special master's finding in 1924, with the value of property since added taken into consideration. It includes the present plant now being used by the company for the manufacture of artificial gas, which they claim must be kept intact for at least one year as an auxtact for at least one year as an auxiliary service should there be an inruption in the supply of natural gas.

Discussing the service charge of $1

sked by the Atlanta Gas Light Company, the commission said, "There are elements of cost individual to all customers alike and this difference will continue whether natural or manufactured gas is furnished. However, in view of the fact that this service charge represents considerable of the cost in the company's production plant which will disappear immediately from active use, the commission is of the opinion that a lower rate should be provided for this individual service cost."

Marietta Included. By special reference Marietta was included in the territory for which the new rate was fixed. "The territory between the city limits of Atlanta and the city limits of Marietta is reason-ably well developed and it will be but a short time until the two cities

In the big cifies it was notorious that the political managers played their money against each other like crap-shooters.

Hence no one should wonder that Vare and his crowd spent $785,000 ("found out" dollars and that the Mellon-Pepper-Fisher crowd spent to over a million dollars and still got licked. Evidently they failed to plant the strength and the two cities will but a short time until the two cities will but a short time until the two cities will but a short time until the two cities will but a short time until the two cities will but a short time until the two cities will be a short time until the two cities will be ta short time until the two cities will be the village will be, in appearance, one continuous city, "it was said.

By comparison, the new rate represents a great reduction from that asked by the Atlanta Gas Light Company. The company's rate proposed a service charge of $1 per month. The net cost of gas would have been $1.80 for the first 1,000 cubic feet; $1.30 for the second and third 1,000; 75 cents for each 1,000 in excess of 5,000 cubic feet per month. The new rate will have a service will be a short time until the two cities will be a short time until the two cities will be a short time until the two cities will be a short time until the two cities will be the will be will be

The new rate will have a service charge of 65 cents per month. The net cost of gas will be $1.30 for the first 1,000 cubic feet; $1.10 for the second and third; 85 cents for the fourth and fifth; and 75 cents for each 1,000 in excess of 5,000 cubic feet per month.

Contract Not Considered . The rate was fixed by the public service commission without passing upon the contract between the Atlanta Gas Light Company and the Southern Natural Gas Corporation from which it buys the natural gas. This contract was submitted to the public service commission, it was said, but a hearing on the reasonableness of the rates at which the gas was purchased wholesale was continued from time to time at the requests of both parties.

"The commission has not gone into a consideration of the reasonableness of rates set forth in said contract, but assuming that said rates are satisfactory to both parties and that the local company secured the lowest pos-sible rate, and in consideration of similar rates for natural gas at other sections in the country, the commission does not, at this time, regard said rates as being too high," the order

More than 100 friends of Willis A.

More than 100 friends of Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta schools, gathered Monday night at a dinner in the ballroom of the Capital City Club to observe his 50th birthday and to demonstrate to him the esteem and affection in which Atlanta holds him.

There were many representatives of the school system he has helped to build, of the board of education, of the city government. There were Mr. Sutton's brother Rotarians, and doctors and dentists who had helped him carry to success his notable health work among Atlanta children. There were fathers of many boys and girls whom Mr. Sutton had inspired. The gathering was representative of no one group but of Atlanta as a whole, and it was stated that the number was limited only by the seating capacity of the room.

TRADE CLUB SPONSORS GOOD-WILL CUBAN TRIP

Return Visit To Be One of Group's Major Projects for Next Year.

Decision to ask the Atlanta Foreign Trade Club to sponsor the proposed Georgia good-will tour to Cuba was reached at a luncheon of officers of the club and interested civic leaders Monday.

The matter will be presented formally to the trade club Wednesday week, when the annual election of of-ficers is held. Charles F. Hoke, re-tiring president, said he thought the tour ought to be made one of the major projects of the club for 1930. Colonel Eugenio Silva, vice presi-dent of the National Tourist Commis-sion and one of the leading figures. sion, and one of the leading figures in the Cuban good-will tour to At-lanta last week, was the club's honor guest at the luncheon. Harry O. Mitchell, of the Atlanta office of the Mitchell, of the Atlanta office of the department of commerce presided.

"The south, more than the north, recognizes the value of good relations between the United States and Cubn," Colonel Silva said. "Nothing before has done so much to promote good will as the visit which we have just paid you. There is a bigger aspect to these international visits than trade these international visits than trade these international visits than trade relations betwen the southern Unit-ed States and Cuba, and that is that all Latin America is watching the at-titude of the United States toward Cuba and interpreting this country's treatment of us as indicative of a general policy to their countries."

Benefits From Tour. The enticing suggestion of parading picked cadets from the Georgia Military Academy in the international spectacle which will feature the opening of the Central American Olympic games in Havana March 15, and of a baseball game between teams repre-senting Georgia Tech and the University of Havana, was made by Colo-nel Silva in his outline of benefits to be achieved by Georgia's returning the recent visit.

Colonel J. C. Woodward, who served as general chairman of the Atlanta committee which brought about last week's Cuban tour to this city and week's Cuban tour to this city and Athens, told the luncheon guests that Houston, Texas, last year promoted a good will trip to Mexico and that one of the results had been to brin; the president-elect of Mexico into that state for a vacation. He declared that Cuba is the "clearing house" of the future both for Anglo-Saxons and Latins and expressed himself as highly favorable to the tour next spring. Colonel Woodward read two telegrams from members of the Cuba party in Miami Monday thanking Atlantans for the entertainment they received here. They were from Colonel Julius Morales Coello, personal representative of President Machado, and Dr. Florencio Guerra, who represented the Cuban state department.

Chamber Heads in Favor.

Chamber Heads in Favor.

President Philip H. Alston and Executive Vice President Benjamin S. President Philip H. Alston and Executive Vice President Benjamin S. Barker, of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, declared themselves in favor of the tour. Mr. Alston said that one item of publicity alone relating to the visit of the Cubans to Atlanta, appearing in the current issue of Time, was worth the cost of the tour to this city. Mr. Barker said that the trip could be arranged on a per capita cost of less than $100 plus hotel entertainment and that he believed 250 Georgians would make the trip.

Russell Whitman, publisher of the Georgian, favored the trip, expressing himself as believing it the conventional social thing to return the call at an early date. It was indicated that a suggestion made by Colonel Silva that the United States be asked to furnish a warship for the transportation of a part, probably the cadets and baseball team, or all of the Atlanta party, might be taken up later with the war and aavy departments through Georgia representatives and senators in congress.

Good tourist rates would be asked from several points in Georgia, according to the tentative outline of the trip, and especially from the port cities of Savannah and Brunswick.

M. C. COURTS IN CITY AFTER COMPLETION OF NEW YORK STUDY

Malon C. Courts, son of R. W. Courts, has just returned to the city, after finishing a course in a school of investment and banking at the Guaranty Company of New York.

Mr. Courts spent the summer months attending a bond school at Dillon, Read & Co., of New York. Miss Hodgson told Call Officers Arthur Dailey and Charlie Floyd that she pursued the negro a short dis-tance hoping to summon aid ,but that he soon outdistanced her.

SIX MEN ARRESTED, FOUR AUTOS SEIZED BY PROHI AGENTS

Activities of federal prohibition agents over the last week-end resulted in the seizure of four automobiles, approximately 75 gallons of whisky and the arrest of six men, according to reports Monday at the office of H. P. Wright, deputy prohibition administrator for the northern district of Geografia

Georgia.

Agent G. Z. Brinson went in for a bit of unexpected swimming when he attempted to cross a creek in Fayette county for the purpose of breaking up a whisky-making party but finally made it across with his ardor dampened not at all. The guests made a hurried departure but a complete distilling apparatus was destroyed.

Chicago Judge Attacks Iowa Athletic Board; Requests Probe SPILLER OFF TO MAKE NEW YORK DEALS

ON IOWA BOARD

Investigation of Athletic Row Is Requested by Chicagoan.

By Paul Mickelson.

Associated Press Sports Writer. CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—(P)—Rumblings of an alumni revolt against the present administration of the University of Iowa because of condition in its athletic department which re-sulted in the ouster from the Western conference grew louder and more omi-nous today.

nous today.

Superior Court Judge M. L. McKinely, of Chicago, former head of the Iowa Alumni Association, touched off a bombshell by openly attacking President Walter Jessup and requesting the Iowa state board of education to investigate not only the athletic department but also the "cause of dissension and discord that has existed in departments of the university other than athletic."

"It is now time for the alumni to speak out," Judge McKinely said. "The ouster of Iowa is no longer an athletic matter, It ceases to be exclusively a university matter. It now becomes a matter that affects by reflection every alumnus of the university, wherever located, as well as every citizen of the state of Iowa, whose taxes support that great institution."

Ever since the Western conference faculty committee voted last May to sever athletic relations with the Hawkeyes, effective January 1, many Iowa alumni have been condemning the actions of President Jessup, whom they charged with "bungling" the matter. But until today none of Judge McKinely's power in alumni matters has come forth publicly with a statement to that effect.

Judge McKinely said he did not income.

Judge McKinely said he did not in-tend to go before the meeting of the Iowa state board of education at Council Bluffs, Iowa, tomorrow or at any other time or place to explain h charges.

George T. Baker, chairman of the board, said Judge McKinley's statement would be considered if presented and that the board would co-operate "to clean up the situation."

Judge McKinley condemned the action of the Western conference committee in calling in conference athilited directors in the discussion of Iowa's reinstatement plea, insisting it was like a judge asking a prosecution attorney for his assistance and moral support in helping him find the defendant guilty. Any one familiar with Western conference affairs knew that "Iowa's case was hopeless" under "Iowa's case was hopeless" under

When the first suspension of Iowa for alleged proselyting of athletes occurred last May 25, the Hawkeyes were told to "put their house in order" and the conference would consider re-instatement. Even the faculty athletic committee in its announcement refusing Iowa readmittance Saturday admitted that the Hawkeyes had made a "sincere effort" to put the house in order, but apparently the committee did not think Iowa as yet deserves Big Ten good standing.

Here Is Latest On Big Ten Muss

IOWA CITY, Dec. 9 .- (P)-Dr. E. H. Lauer, director of athletics at the University of Iowa, has put into poetry his version of how the Big Ten became the Big Nine. Closing his talk at a mass raceting of students and alumni at Iowa City yesterday, Lauer recited: "Ten Western conference schools Getting along fine:
One went amateur—
And then there were nine."

Over in Athens in a new bungalow on top of a knoll, a man with the figure of an alderman, the face of a student and the heart of a lion is resting after completing a remarkable season as head football coach at the University of Georgia.

After weeks of preparation his boys went into the game with Oglethorpe and came out defeated. Right then if Harry Mehre had weakened in the slightest, his boys would have caught the infection of discouragement and given up. Yet he steered his youngsters back into winning form against Furman and brought them into the Yale game at a peak of organization and condition.

DOWN AND UP.

After defeating Yale and North Carolina in a row, the Bulldogs lost to Florida, Tulane and New York University narrowly and the clinch was there again. In the crisis it was up to the head coach to keep them stepping; any gesture of hopelessness would have been fatal.

That they were brought back into winning form to beat Auburn, Alabama and Georgia Tech is a tribute to the man behind the team.

What is said of Coach Mehre can be shared by Frank Thomas, Chick Shiver, Gene Smith and Frank Dudley. Their co-operation and advice was essential. The regime now at Athens has weathered the most difficult situation that ever confronted the football cause at Georgia.

BOUGHT AND PAID FOR.

And do not forget that the magnificent stadium stands there paid for by the devotion, the buffetings and the blood of that gallant squad and by the shrewdness of the coaching staff.

A schedule involving the sternest sort of opposition was necessary to meet the stadium indebtedness.

With a simpler program Georgia might have breezed through to a championship. But the Bulldogs sacrificed their chances to trip a smooth country lane to establish that fine plant for their

the average human being.

At the start of the second round of the most widely heralded heavyweight bout of the season, before a record throng in Madison Square Garden, the Norwegian, reaching for his elusive opponent's body, landed a low blow.

It was a left tap below Scott's waist line. It seemed incredible that the blow had crippled Scott, but the Englishman, after a moment of hesitation. sank gradually to the canvas grimacing as though in pain.

JACK HESITATES.

JACK HESITATES.

Jack Dempsey, the former heavy-weight champion, who was referring the bout for the sake of Christmas fund charity, was frankly puzzled as to what to do. He picked up Scott as though the Englishman had been a baby and urged him to go on fighting. But Scott had had enough for one night, whatever the actual extent of his injuries. He knew he had the fight won on a foul, just as he has won so many others during his strange career, and he took good care to grovel and grimace and weep as he was assisted to his stool.

Dempsey stood uncertain for a few moments, urging Scott to go on. But Phil merely clutched his middle and showed great pains of agony.

The first round had gone to the Norwegian by a slight margin, and he was out and after his man as the bell sounded for the second. But Scott back-pedalled and was running around the ring away from his man when the long left, which would have landed fair if Phil had been standing up and fighting, just brushed his trunks. his trunks.

Little Jimmy Johnston, who now manages the English heavyweight, was in the ring and at Dempsey's ear as the former champion stood there, puzzled as to what to do. Jack felt that Phil hadn't been hurt, but he couldn't make him go on fighting and it was make him go on fighting, and it was plain that technically the Londoner had been fouled. CALLED WINNER.

School Upheld For Withdrawal

MADISONVILLE, Ky., Dec. 9.—
(P)—Resolutions "sustaining and approving" the action of Professor C. I. Henry, principal of Madisonville High school, in withdrawing the Madisonville school from the Western Kentucky conference at a meeting of the Western Kentucky Athletic Association at Princeton Saturday were adopted today by the Madisonville board of education.

All football, basketball and other athletic relations with the Western Kentucky conference were severed by the board, the action resulting from the awarding of the little sixteen football title to Owensborn, when supporters of Madisonville believed that their team had a better right to the championship.

fields in figures well-nigh perfect. It was only last winter that Mr. Rell J. Spiller, the then-president and owner of the Crackers, let himself in for some ill-natured jibes from the boys who write for the papers in the cities holding membership in the SPILLER'S AMBITION.

Mr. Spiller sat down and won the pennant with a piece of paper and a pencil. When he had done his adding and subtracting, leaving the customary margin for shrinkage, he found that he had a pitching staff which would win 90 ball games and a team which would hit .350.

Winning a pennant had come to be the major ambition of Mr. Spiller's life and when he had won this one with a pencil and piece of paper he was very much pleased and admitted that the flag was won. It was probably the easiest victory ever won.

Of course, as it turned out, the Crackers finished in a very lugubrious position indeed and won no pennants at all. They were not even a contender save for a few short summer days.

PROGRESS.

Ah, me, yes, winning the winter pennants is very easy indeed. Yet it does seem that Mr. John Gordon Dobbs, the new manager, and Mr. Rell J. UNUSUAL LAYOUT.

The Chattanooga meeting, conclud-ed last Friday, found John Dobbs in ed last Friday, found John Dobbs in possession of a very unusual layout. There is nothing of a Micawber quality about Mr. Dobbs. He does not wait for things to turn up. He rushes in and he purchases or he trades.

Truth to tell Mr. Dobbs emerged from the minor league meeting at Chattanooga with a collection of ball players which rather startled the baseball writers. This quality alone makes Mr. Dobbs refreshing. He had listened patiently to all the writers while they extolled the virtues of their favorites left on last season's squad. Mr. Dobbs' complaisancy and his easy listening encouraged them and they even ventured to suggest who would be retained, to say that the infield was set and the outfield likely to be this and that.

be asked not to bring their microphones with them when they attend the ball games.

LINES HIS IDEA.

John A. Heydler, president of the National League, still thinks his 10-man team idea a good one, but probably will not advocate it again as the clubs thought 9 players were enough when it was brought up at the last annual meeting.

The possible trades to be developed at the meetings were only in the conversational stage tonight as the magnates and managers talked in hotel lobbies. Many of the men who will participate in the major league conferences have just come from a week with the minor leaguers at Chattanooga, and seed was sown there which may blossom into baseball fruit before the adjournment here.

Pitchers, always in demand, were sought by many of the major league clubs, and the market for catchers promised to be almest as active.

Big Ed Morris, the ace of the Boston Red Sox pitching staff, was reported about to move to the New York Yankees, but Bob Quinn, president of the Boston club, declared he had not approved the transfer.

VANCE MENTIONED.

Dazzy Vance, who had an unsuccessful season last year, and was bothered by ill health, just as his $25,000 contract expired was mentioned in connection with half a dozen clubs, including the Chicago Cubs, who were

IRISH VICTORS IN NINE GAMES OVER COUNTRY

Tackling, Falling on Ball Keeps Team in Fine Condition.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 9.—
The time is 3 p. m. on any school day during the football season. The place is the quiet but spacious campus of Notre Dame.

Five minutes later the scene has changed. What a few minutes before was a picture of solitude with the stately buildings rising above the spreading clms and maples has suddenly become a bee hive of industry. Twenty-two hundred men and boys rush hither and thither with but one thought—football.

From the 12 hall teams and the four or five second teams all of which play a regular schedule—came the men molded by Knute Rockne into one of the greatest gridiron machines of the South Bend school's history.

Victorious in nine successive battles from coast to coast the men of Rockne have been developed from players, seeking recognition on some hall or second team, to a team called the equal of the eleven of the "Four Horsemen" days.

Pushed aside by the rising new stadium, which will seat 50,000, even the Notre Dame varsity has been forced to fight its way through practice sessions over improvised and crowded playing fields.

Two hundred freshmen flanked by more than a hundred varsity men under the eagle eye of Rockne at the start of the season and then Tom Lieb has crowded the capacity of the practice field.

Half Dozen Men Rumored for Post-Others To Change.

United News Staff Correspondent. NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(United News.)-Election of Louis Little to coach football at Columbia University in 1930, announcement of which was made today, marks an important step in clearing up the college coaching situation for the 1930 season.

More than half of the nation's topine coaches who will occupy new berths next year or who would like to, had been named as possible suc-cessors to Coach Charley Crowley, who resigned his Columbia coaching position at the end of the 1929 sea-son. Columbia won no major game this year. Little has been coach of George town University's teams for five years. He made a splendid record, although Georgetown enjoyed only fair success this year.

THE ONLY ONE. A formal statement issued by the Columbia athletic authorities—and they would not enlarge upon it—declared that Little was the only man with whom negotiations had been made.

The statement failed to mention length of the contract or salary. The United News, however, has heard reports that Little will receive $18,000 yearly. That is $2,000 per game. It would pay the salaries of the governors of California and Iowa, and leave $500 for Christmas presents. If the figure is correct it will set a figure is correct it will set a

The story is that Columbia wanted
Little and told him so. Little said
"yes" and added "$18,000." Columbia did about $18,000 worth of thinking it over and decided to acquiesce.

SPURNS FAT ONE.

Late last week Little spurned a fat offer made by the University of Pennsylvania to coach there.

Columbia needs a good coach. While it is one of the largest of the world's universities, only students in what are known as "the college" are eligible for sports competition. There are about 1,600 of them.

A survey of the nation's colleges gives one the impression that coaching shifts will show a decline.

Harvard has decided to retain Arnie Horween. Navy is keeping "Navy Bill" Ingram. Cornell will again be coached by Gil Dobie. Virginia Poly will keep Andy Gustafson. Coaching changes had been rumored at these schools. SPURNS FAT ONE.

Army has swapped coaches. Major Ralph Hasse succeeds Captain Biff Among the colleges where changes will be or may be made are:

The All-Comer's Shot.

Bobby Jones dropped in on the quaint city of New York a short while ago and the eminent Georgian admitted that he had played just one round of golf since he landed back from California.

He has planned to play in the Walker cup matches, the British amateur and the British open next spring before returning to compete later in the U. S. open and the U. S. amateur. Outside of the Walker cup matches this will give him four big shots, but in the meanwhile he has decided there will be practically no time for golf until just before he sails. Lawyer Jones, like many others, has discovered that in this modern age the general idea of earning a living at some profession and still being a star amateur has its complications. In 1930, for example, he will have to travel about 15,000 miles and be away from home for over two months to play in four tournaments. He realizes that he can't keep on doing this indefinitely and practice law at about the same time, but he has made no plans beyond 1930. He will have one big golf fling through that year, anyway, and then decide about his operations for 1931—which are pretty sure to be on no such extensive scale.

His first trip from Atlanta, late in April, will take him to Sandwich, St. Andrews and other points east. His next trip from Atlanta will take him to Minneapolis. This will come later in the summer. His third trip will take him from Atlanta to Philadelphia.

It was after looking over the map for 1930, after arriving home from San Francisco, that he put his clubs away in September to wait for spring before taking more than a casual interest in perhaps a few friendly rounds, hardly at the average of one round a month. But just as a rolling stone gathers little moss, so does a smooth swing absorb but little

Such Being Life.

With Bobby Jones temporarily, at least, shelving golf for law, it would be interesting to know how many lawyers there are who would be much obliged if they could exchange their profession for Bobby Jones' swing.

Or doctors or bank presidents or whatever else there is. How many of the same could you keep at work in an office if they knew it was pos-sible to step out upon a golf course and kick the ball around at a 70 clip? Out of the Spotlight.

There were several high grade football teams this last season that in one way or another failed to get one-third of the credit due. One of these was Colgate. Another was North Carolina. Up through November they had each lost just one game. Both had run up big scores against good teams. For example, North Carolina beat Maryland 43 to 0. Colgate beat Brown 32 to 0. At the finish of the season North Carolina and Colgate would have been ready to go against almost any team in the country and provide one of the busiest afternoons of the year. Both the country and provide one of the busiest afternoons of the year. Both teams were big, fast and well coached. Yet they dipped back of the main skyline because Colgate lost an early game to Wisconsin and North Carolina fell before Georgia. Together they scored over 600 points against less than 70 for the opposition, which is pretty fair evidence they were playing quite a bit of football here and there. Neither happens to be close to any large center of publicity and this can make a lot of difference.

But if football is played only for publicity, or largely for publicity, it might as well be canned. Colgate and North Carolina seemed to be pretty well satisfied with what they did on the field-not in the papers-which is one of the few outbreaks of sanity the late season has shown.

An All-American Definition.

"I have a good definition of an average All-American football player," remarked Dr. Zuppke, of Illinois, recently. "The same being what" we asked.

Five Scores in Final Game Gave Vol Lead. Hinkle Second.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. Saving his biggest scoring splurge for the last game of the season, Gene McEver, flashy Tennessee halfback, has won the national football individl scoring race. McEver tallied five touchdowns and three points after touchdown against South Carolina Saturday to run his season's total to 130 points, just two more than Clark Hinkle, Bucknell fullback, the previous leader.

The leader in each of the eight major groups or conferences, as compiled by the Associated Press, follows:

zard, with 95 points, laid claim to second position among the southern touchdown manufacturers.

Three North Carolina backs went on a rampage against Duke and jumped to near the top of the scoring heap. Ward tallied once and vaulted into third place with 72 points. Spaulding, the battering-ram fullback, scored once and kicked two points after touchdown to take sixth position with 58. Nash led the Tarheel barrage with three touchdowns and advanced to eighth place with 56.

In addition to winning both national and southern scoring laurels, McEver displaced Banker as the leader among players scoring against conference teams alone. His activities against the Gamecocks brought his conference total to an even hundred, while Banker had but 79. The varsity football "P" has been their work in the 1929 campaign.

Mountain Teams Plan New Loop

DENVER, Col., Dec. 9.—(P)— Taking a cue from the Big Six of the Missouri, Valley conference, a half-dozen of the 12 schools in the Rocky Mountain conference—which embraces schools in four states—have consolidated their interests to form a circuit within a circuit. The plan first was advanced three years ago, but came to fruition only last week.

A deadlock in the negotiations for the 1930 football schedules Friday was circumvented when the six schools, generally regarded as the leading football institutions of the conference, went into a huddle and emerged with their own schedules, with their open dates to be filled in by other teams. y other teams.

The Big Six is composed of Denver University. University of Colorado, University of Utah, Utah State Agricultural college, Colorado college and Colorado Aggies. Year in and year out, they have given the most impressive displays on the gridiron, but the most enthusiastic of their boosters concede that the remaining six ers concede that the remaining six members of the circuit can make a bid for admission to the inner circle.

The powers-that-be in the select circle maintain that the new planevolved only after a deadlock of 12 hours—is fairer to both the more powerful and the weaker schools in the conference.

Jake Atz, veteran minor league baseball manager, is a brave man. For so many years that the mind of the baseball fan recalls with difficulty when he started, Atz managed Fort Worth in the Texas league.

Among his accomplishments in the big cow town was the feat of winning six pennants in a row. And now he has moved over to manage Dallas.

Dailas and Fort Worth are only 30 miles apart, connected by a fast traveling trolley system and sports rivals of an intensity seldom reached in any game. The football rivalries of Yale and Harvard, Stanford and California, North Carolina and Virginia and other famous feuds fade into insignificance by the mighty depths of the baseball war between Fort

He added that Southern Methodist University and Texas Christian University had good football teams and included in his football roll of honor Tulane University, the pride of New Orleans, Jake's home town.

Lee Meadows, former Pittsburgh pitcher, and George Toporcer, Rochester infielder, wear spectacles on and off the field. Shortly after the decision listing the suspension of Toporcer in favor of a fine was announced Walter Hapgood, secretary of the Montreal club, met Meadows in a Chattanooga hotel lobby.

"How much did they fine you?" he asked.

Meadows, sensing that he was being mistaken for Toporcer, replied: "Five hundred dollars." Hapgood about this time put on his spectacles and recognized Meadows. A little later again In brief the new schedule provides resumption of relations between Utah and Denver. Colorado, in order to engage Utah late in the season, agreed to play Utah State. Schedules of Colorado college, Colorado Aggies and Utah State are not strikingly different from those of last season.

Meadows, sensing that he was being mistaken for Toporcer, replied: "Five hundred dollars." Hapgood about this time put on his spectacles and recognized Meadows. A little later again with the specs off he met Toporcer.

Crowds Throng Erlanger,

Atlanta, hungry for the fare of the theater after a famine of many months, thronged eagerly to the Erlanger Monday night to witness the opening performance of "The Vagabond King." They went expecting something unusual in entertainment and they were not disappointed. The production of Rudolf Frimi's famous operetta lived up to every advance notice as a thrilling, romantic drama and as a musical play with many exquisite airs and at least two songs that are tremendously popular numbers.

Ralph T. Jones, who went to Mem Ralph T. Jones, who went to Memphis to see the show there last Saturday, already has written a criticism of the performance and named some of the leading players. It is unlikely, however, that Mr. Jones saw as good a show as we saw at the Erlanger last night. For it is doubtful if any city has a theater so perfectly adapted for such as "The Vagabond King." Of course, the company is the same as in Memphis, the stage settings and the costumes are the same, the show is the same, but the addition of the Erlanger as the place of presentation should have added about 50 per cent to the enjoyment of the audience.

Marion Stuart, as "Huguette," is one of the loveliest girls to grace the local thespian boards for a long time. There is a shapely grace and a refreshing vigor to her personality that wins her audience from the start and, in her song, "Love for Sale," she revealed a true and well-trained voice. She seems to be the kind of girl anyone would like to meet.

Then there is Bert Keyes, the principal comedian, playing the role of Guy Tabarie. Mr. Keyes is a funny man of the best type. He gets his laughs easily and, although his part is the broadest of broad compely, never seems to be straining for effect. "Woman to Woman," showing at the Rialto, is a drama growing out of the World War. It is the story of the love of a French dancer for an English army officer and their child, reaching its climax when she meets his wife, woman to woman, and becomes a party to a pledge for their mutual good.

It is packed full of vivid, gripping moments. Ex-service men will find many reminiscences in the season of Paris' wartime streets. The best color the picture is a brief glimpse of raiding Gothas caught in the beams of searchlights, anti-aircraft shells bursting in the air above them.

Kate Edwards' Portrait of Mr. Hastings Will Be Unveiled Wednesday at O'Keefe

A three-quarter length oil painting of Stanley Hastings, principal of O'Keefe's Junior High school, done by Miss Kate Edwards, prominent Atlanta artist, while the subject was being consulted almost continually by students, will be unveiled at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, December 11, at the school. The portrait, which is done in a high key and reflects remarkable likeness of the subject, was paid for entirely by students of the school, the funds having been raised in part by their own entertainments. Mrs. Louise Stakely, assistant principal, who is deeply interested in the beautification of the school, was instrumental in having the work done.

Miss Edwards, who is widely known here, having won a distinct place in the world of art, spends a great part of her time away from Atlanta in the beautification of the school, was instrumental in having the work done.

Miss Edwards will deliver a talk on "Personailty in Portraiture" at the presentation Wednesday. The presentation address will be made by Max Milliga", former student of the school.

Stanley Hastings, principal of the school, will unveil the portrait.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

REDDY GOES TO MRS. REDDY'S jumped from," he barked. "I'll take HELP. | care of that fellow."

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS. The simplest way may prove to be The one most difficult to see.

—Old Mother Nature.

Reddy Fox had succeeded in catching a turkey and in a way he had caught a little more than he had bargained for. Almost at once he knew that that turkey would have to be caten very near where it was killed. Therefore, it was necessary that it should be hidden close by for a while. Now Reddy and Mrs. Reddy had planned all this out beforehand. They had suspected that they might have to hide the turkey if they got one, so they had agreed on a hiding place. Where do you think that place was? It was under the barn on the very farm where the turkeys lived. You could have thrown a stone from where Reddy caught the turkey to the place where he dragged it under the barn. He remained there with it until it was so dark that he was sure he could slip out without being seen. caten very near where it was killed.

For two or three minutes he stood

For two or three minutes he stood listening. Far. far away he could hear the baying of the hound. He knew that that hound was chasing Mrs. Reddy. That hound was the dog who lived on this very farm where Reddy then was. It was the dog on whom the farmer depended somewhat to keep his turkeys safe.

"Mrs. Reddy seems to be having some trouble in getting rid of that dog," thought Reddy. "I'll go over and help her out of it. We'll lose him somewhere and then we'll come back and feast on this turkey. No one will think to look for it so near home."

Reddy started of. running swiftly. It was quite evident to him that that dog was wise in the ways of Foxes and to their tricks. So far, Mrs. Reddy had not been able to break her trail. Reddy could tell by the sound of the dog that Mrs. Reddy was running in a big circle. He knew the ground perfectly. He knew there Mrs. Reddy would be likely to run, and so he headed her off. As she passed a big rock, Reddy jumped lightly down behind her. "Jump up on the farther end of it and ran around the which was off to one side, sprang from the farther end of it and ran around the farther end of it and ran around when the farther end of it and ran around the ment and sow he heaving my on the big rock. SYNOPSIS.

SYNOPSIS.

John Andrew Kellogg awakens in a strange room to learn that he has been robbed of his money and traveling hag by a former college acquaintance named Jennings after a convivial night out together. The landlady of the strange boarding house losists that be telephone some friend for money before she allows him to dress. He goes out to a hall telephone dressed in his pajamas. On the way back to his room he passes a pretty girl, who atares in astonishment at his appearance.

fun out of things which the older man smiled at; why, then, impose conditions? Such as . . . Utica! Not that John Andrew minded working, but there were so many other things to do, the men he knew all had time to do them in. So, far as that went, did Barbara, although she was always lecturing him . . . It had been Barbara, despite her constant advice, who had made him stay in New York when he should have gone upstate last month, although, fairly, he realized that he had not been hard to persuade.

He began to grin as he thought of

I do. . In the sunlight, he forced himself to forget the girl who had made his head ache less; he ran a hand over his chin, and then determined to look more presentable before he tackled the office and Saunders. He swang more presentable before he tackled the office and Saunders. He swung blithely around an "el" pillar at the third crosstown street, and walked a half block to the nearest hotel.

A voice whispered to John Andrew, "Come on, Jaddie; be tough. Tell him to go chase himself; that Jennings isn't any more a friend than that porter with an armful of bags. ..." but John Andrew reached for his checkbook, saying, "Sorry."

"You . . . you seemed to be having an excellent time while you were here last night, sir."

"Um," John Andrew said. "Well,

"Um," John Andrew said. "Well, I'm glad to hear it."

Outside, the noise stirred him, as it always did. His nostrils moved as the combined odor of gasoline and perfume from the open hetel door reached him—a strange, singularly New York smell, into which the fumes of tobacco were seethed. John Andrew felt like walking through Central Park, and kicking fallen leaves just to hear the crackle they made: like feeding bright eyed squirrels; like buying bags of chestnuts and ... why Utica?

Who cared about Utica anyhow?

Who cared about Utica anyhow! He must remember not to grin when Saunders talked about organization and duty and loyalty; he must make believe that failing to go to Utica was the worst thing which had happened to any one between the Battery and The Bronx in seven years.

As John Andrew stopped a cab, and climbed inside, he decided, as he had many times before, that it was rather a foolish notion of his father to have insisted that he be "steadily employed until reaching the age of 25 where he is not known as my son." or dire things would happen. Just what these were he did not know, and Craig undoubtedly tried to fighten him with what would turn fighten him with what would turn out to be a boger man. Lawyers were that way. Secrecy about nothing. Full of dust and mumbo-jumbo. Andrew Kellogg. Sr., would never

He had, he realized, been a fool, but who would have thought that a . . . well, not a friend exactly, but a fellow you'd known in college, and who was down in his luck, would play such a shabby trick as Jennings had?

He sat quietly in the room's one the began to grin as he thought of the braced himself as the cab stopped abruptly, and lit a cigaret, wishing that he had paused at the hotel for coffee and rolls; of course he wouldn't mention the fellow's name, even if Jennings had turned out to be a pup: "There I stood with the sitelling the braced himself as the cab stopped abruptly, and lit a cigaret, wishing that had play such a shabby trick as Jennings had?"

Open as Usual. With the ticket office switched, because of Annage done by the explosion, from the Peachtree street entrance to an exit on Tenth street, the theater opened as usual Monday, tholding over Ruth Chatterton, in "Madame X," for the second week's run.

Possibility that explosive used in bombing the theater was stolen last week from the magazine of the Dupont Company on Bolton road was seen Monday when county police revealed the theft of half a box of dynamite from the powder magazine.

County police are seeking clues to the person or persons who broke open the heavy door of the powder magazine and escaped with the explosive, Chief George Mathieson said. CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—(R)—Wheat underwent a sharp fall in price today, largely on account of the United States wheat visible supply failing to exhibit speedy curtailment. Emergency measures taken today to avert difficulties in settling big contracts calling for December delivery of rye.
Wheat dropped to about 10c per bushel under prices which were current less than a week ago.
Closing quotations on wheat were nervous at nearly the day's botton nervous at nearly the day's botton level, 2 1-2c to 3 3-8c lower than Saturday's finish. Corn closed 1-2 (45-8c to 7-8c down, oats 3-8c to 7-8c off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 5c.

From the outset downturns in wheat From the outset downturns in wheat values were the rule today, but frequent rallies took place until announcement was made that domestic visible supplies showed a decrease of only 2,113,000 bushels for the week. This falling-off indicated that no such rapid progress in disposing of United States wheat on hand is being achieved as many traderways the contract of th achieved as many traders were hoping for, the rate of reduction being slower even than during the week previous which also had been a source of grief watch also and been a source of grief to friends of higher prices. Chagrin over the visible supply figures was in-tensified by action of Board of Trade directors today intended to remove likelihood that an end-of-the-month squeeze in the rye market here would be witnessed as a result of an un-usual disparity existing on the on-hand between the amount of rye which must be delivered on Chicago De-cember contracts and on the other hand the relative smallness of stocks of rye here coupled with a lack of storage room in elevators. Weakness storage room in elevators. Weakness of the wheat market was further emphasized by persistent slackness today of export demand for wheat from North America, purchases for Europe aggregating but 400,000 bushels, besides the amount of wheat on ocean passage showed some increase compared with a week ago.

There also were advices that stocks.

There also were advices that stocks of wheat and flour in Great Britain are now four times larger than at this time last year, and are 4,000,000 bushels in excess of last month. Corn and oats prices went down-grade with wheat, despite prospects of rain or snow ahead throughout the greater part of the corn belt. Notwithstanding an advance in hog values, provisions averaged lower on account of grain weakness.

Banana supplies continue heavy, with heavier receipts over the week-end than generally: the local demand is rather slow and good stock was being offered Monday at considerably lower prices. The celery market is slightly weaker, and California and Oregon stock was offered the jobbing trade at lower prices this morning. Minnesota and New York round white potatoes advanced slightly over the weekend and were being sold this morning at slightly higher prices. The local onion market is firm, with good stock meeting with ready sale at steady or slightly higher prices. In the last official cotton report of the season Georgia's cotton crop is estimated at 1,345,000 bales (500 pounds gross weight). Final production last year was 1,030,000 bales; pounds gross weight). Final production last year was 1,030,000 bales; 1927, 1,100,000; 1926, 1,496,000, and in 1925, 1,164,000 standard bales. Of the 3,847,000 acres estimated in cultivation on July 1, 3,782,000 acres remained for harvest, estimated abandonment being 1.7 per cent, as compared with 4.0 abandoned last year and 1.08 per cent for the 10-year average. Yield per acre approximates 170 pounds, as compared with 132-pounds last year, 154 in 1927, 180 in 1926 and 155 for 1925.

Although excessive rains and unfavorable temperatures early in the season delayed operations throughout the state and made planting over necessary in considerable areas of middle and southern Georgia, the crop taken as a whole got off-to a slightly earlier start than last year. Stands secured were also better.

During August showery conditions favored the weevil in all but the midstate territory, which was also hard hit in 1928. During early September weather was generally favorable for development of the late portion of the crop and it was realized through October 2, being particularly heavy in eastern, east central and southeastern areas where complaints were received of severe weather damouth heavy rains set in and lasted through October 2, being particularly heavy in eastern, east central and southeastern areas where complaints were received of severe weather damouth heavy rains set in and lasted through October 2, being particularly heavy in eastern, east central and southeastern areas where complaints were received of severe weather damouth heavy rains set in and lasted through October 2, being particularly heavy in eastern, east central and southeastern areas where complaints were received of severe weather for some the season days of the month, when rainy weather prevailed, and except for short intervals lasted through most of November. WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.-(4) The estimate of 14,919,000 bales of cotton for the 1929 season contained in the department of agriculture report today was 6-10 of 1 per cent lower than the estimate of a month ago and compared with 14,478,000 bales in the 1928 crop. At the same time the agriculture department issued its report, the census bereau reported that 12,057,971 running tales counting 473,079 round bales as half bales had been gianed prior to December 1.

This compares with 12,560,154 bales in 1928 prior to December 1.

The estimated production would be

The estimated production would be harvested, said the report, from 45.981,000 acres. The abandonment of acreage since July 1 was placed at 3.3 per cent, and the indicated yield of lint cotton per acre was placed at 155.3 pounds.

The report was issued without comment, but later in the day W. F. Callander, head of the plant reporting board, in a radio speech said the decline in the December estimate of 90,000 bales from the estimate issued on November 1 may be blamed upon the unseasonable weather for the maturing of the tail end of the crop and for picking it.

Rainfall, he said, was greater than usual in many portions of the cotton helf and some sections even had usual in many portions of the cotton belt and some sections even had snowfall, an unusual thing in Nosnowfall, an unusual thing in November.

Damage from boll weevils over the cotton generally, he said, has been less than usual because dry weather impeded the maturing of the weevils except in the Carolinas and Virginia, where during the month of October weevil damage had become apparent, The board's estimate of acreage harvested was slightly below the estimate of harvest before September 1. Abandonment of acreage in Texas, mate of harvest before September 1. Abandonment of acreage in Texas, Callander said, was unusually heavy. Today's report on cotton is the last which the board will make until next May, at which time there will be available the enumeration of the actual bales ginned as reported by the ginners. A general revision acreage yields and productions will be made at that time.

Production by states was estimated as follows: as follows:

Virginia, 46.000: North Carolina, 735,000; South Carolina, 845,000; Georgia, 1.345,000; Florida, 29,000; Missouri, 215,000; Tennessee, 515,000; Alabama, 1.335,000; Mississippi, 1.915,000; Louisiana, 810,000; Texas, 3,950,000; Oklahoma, 1,200,000; Arkansas, 1,490,000; New Mexico, 84,000; Arizona, 156,000; California, 242,000; Others, 7,000; Lower California, 80,000.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(P)—Efforts to extend last week's rally on the New York Curb Market failed today when prices reacted sharply under heavy selling for both accounts. Several of the recent leaders bounded upward at the start but the offerings became so large that bullish operations were abandoned in all but a few issues.

While the reaction was regarded as a natural setback after last week's spirited advance, brokers report a growing uneasiness among traders as a result of the recent recessions in many leading lines. Persistent but unconfirmed reports also are in circulation that liquidation has not been fully completed of all stock bought for supporting purposes last month. Electric Bond & Share opened for supporting purposes last month. Electric Bond & Share opened for supporting purposes last month. Electric Bond & Share opened for supporting purposes last month. Electric Bond & Share opened for supporting purposes last month. Electric Bond & Share opened for supporting purposes last month. Electric Bond & Share opened fractionally higher at 93 7-8, touched 94 and then dropped to 87, closing just above that figure for a net loss of its gain on profit-taking. Aluminum Company of America soared 25 points to 316 and then fell back to 309 3-4. Deere & Company, Great Atlantic & Pacific, Isaac Silver preferred and Singer ran up sharply on asmall volume of trading.

A brisk advance of 8 points in Gulf, back on reports of large current earnings, was the only feature in the oil group. Humble dropped nearly 2 points and Vacuum advanced 1. Standard Oil of Indiana, which is selling close to a 6 per cent basis, improved fractionally.

Wall Street Briefs.

The Public Service Electric and Gas Com-pany, an operating subsidiary of the Pub-lic Service Corporation of New Jersey, will reduce its electric rates about $1,300,000.

Not earnings of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company and subsidiaries for the year ending October 31, amounted to $7.726,870, which after payment of preferred dividends, leaves a balance applicable to common stock equal to $16,35 a share on the old stock, or $3.27 a share on the new stock. In the preceding year the net profit amounted to $7.072,014, or $14.86 a share on 370,090 common shares. This amount, however, included only subidiaries in the United States.

Net income of the Seiberling Rubber Com-pany for the year ending October 31, amount-ed to $132,207, compared with $511,968 in the previous 12 months.

Sale of a memberahip in the New York Stock Exchange has been arranged at a price of $423,000, an increase of $25,000 over the previously reported sale.

Cottonseed Oil.

NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS. Dec. 9.—Cottonseed oil futures ruled somewhat easier today owing to a bearish view of the government crop report. Trading was slack. Prime summer yellow oil closed unchanged at 7.30 and prime crude closed at 7.12;627.373.

Futures closed at 8.27, May 8.41, July 8.55.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Cottonseed oil market was comparatively active and easy today, closing 4 to 7 points net lower. Refiners hedging in May and July was resumed while locals pressed the selling side in sympathy with the weakness of grains, and the irregularity in cotton and lard.

The government cotton crop estimate of 1,919,000 hales was about as expected and laid little or no influence.

Sales 15,400 barrels. Prime crude 7.374; prime summer yellow apot 8.75; December closed 8.89, January 9.02, March 9.22, May 9.39, July 9.34.

MEMPHIS.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 9.—Cottonseed futures closed firm. Closing bid: December 37.50; January 39.00; March 39.80; May 40.25; July 40.30. Sales 300 tons.

Cottonseed meal futures closed steady.
Closing bid: December 38.75; January 37.05; March 37.10; May 37.20; July 37.25. Sales 1,300 tons.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—There were no sales in the local raw sugar market today and prices were unchanged at 3.71 for spots dury paid. Cables from Cuba said that the Cuban selling agency there had accepted a bid of 1.75 f. o. b. on 6,000 tons of raws for shipment to other countries than the United States.

Circulation of 76 December notices caused considerable irregularity in the spot position in raw futures and after selling off to 1.83 or 2 points below the previous closs under liquidation. It railled later on covering, closing at 1.83, or 3 points above the previous close. Otherwise fluctuations were marrow and unimportant with trading of small proportious and consisting mainly of buying by the sellers of the spot month, or of exchanging from the near to the later positions.

"Rights" Expiration Extended from

December 16 to January 15

On account of the delay in inaugurating the $8 interest Bearing Allotment Certificate program due to market conditions and because of the approaching holiday season, the time for exercising "Rights" to buy Allotment Certifi-cates has been extended from December 16, 1929 to

If desirable and a sufficient number of security holders request it a further extension may be allowed at that time.

The Allotment Certificates are offered at $120 each under "Rights" less interest of 3c per day for each fullpaid certificate for which the subscription is mailed or delivered prior to January 1, 1930. They will become ex-changeable for securities having a current market value of over $140. Eight "Rights" are required to subscribe for each Certificate. The "Rights" are being traded in at 5/16 to 1 plus commission on the Securities Market of the New York Produce Exchange.

Full value of the "Rights" may be obtained only by exercising them. Any stockholders, however, who do not propose to exercise their "Rights" may sell them. "Rights" not exercised will be void and of no value after January 15 unless a further extension is granted. Circu-

Stocks or Bonds in 1930?

The forward-looking investor today desires a good return with the opportunity later of obtaining stocks or bonds, whichever future developments may make more desirable.

Associated Gas and Electric Company $8 Interest Bearing Allotment Certificates, now offered under rights, provide precisely such an opportunity.

They pay $8 per annum and are exchangeable after July 1, 1930, for Stocks or Convertible Deben-

Steam Power Station, Binghamton, New York

Earnings, number of customers and sales of electricity and gas have all been increasing regularly. Sales of appliances by the System to its customers during 1929 will alone exceed $6,000,000.

The large growth achieved coupled with the even greater future possibilities make an Associated System security attractive at this time.

$8 Interest Bearing Allotment Certificates

Rights to subscribe at $120 to $8 Interest Bearing Allotment Certificates are now being exercised and are being traded in at 5/16 to 1 plus commissions on the Securities Market of the New York Produce Exchange. The securities for which the Allotment Certificates are exchangeable have a current market value of over $140 as compared with the price of $120 for Allotment Certificates under Rights, of which 8 are required to subscribe to each Certificate.

Subscribers may also pay out of income in partial payments as follows: Upon subscription, $20; April 1, 1930, $50; and July 1, 1930. $50. A liberal discount of 3 cents for each day that the subscription is mailed or delivered prior to the expiration date, December 16, 1929, will be allowed on each full paid Certificate. This discount, which is equivalent to approximately 9% a year, is allowed to lessen the clerical expense of handling the subscriptions.

The $8 Interest Bearing Allotment Certificates will become exchangeable for either Stocks or Convertible Debentures. Detailed circular on request.

Relief Is Brought to Nervous Traders By the News That the Pool Still Is Being Held, in Part, in Anticipation of Higher Prices.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—With the rest of the stock market following at a slower pace Steel common climbed another 6 1-4 points from Saturday's closing to 189 before the selling was better than the buying. The market continued strong and active until profit-taking started in the noon hour. In the early trading the tape dropped over a half hour behind the stock exchange floor. The market was steady in the last hour.

In its December 1 review of the general situation and outlook the National City bank, which is a member of the bankers' pool formed the first day of the stock market paniq in October, stated that the bankers' pool had not sold all of the stock acquired in supporting the market. This information was first accepted by Wall Street as bearish in that this stock was still overhanging the market. An Street as bearish in that this stock was still overhanging the market. Another viewpoint is now being taken. In usually well-informed Wall Street circles it is understood that members of the bankers' pool have recently refused private bids for stock acquired during the panic. This is understood to mean that the banks believe that by holding such stock higher prices will he obtained will be obtained.

Today--Last Day! to win Valuable Prizes

In order to show advertisers what ads appeal most to readers, The Constitution is offering special prizes for the ads selected by readers which they consider the most appealing and convincing.

The contest started Sunday and ends Today at 6 p. m.
All answers must be in the office of The Constitution

Here are the rules of the contest:

The readers are to pick only one advertisement each day, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, one which they think is the best of the lot. When you have decided on the one you think is the best appearing on Tuesday, then send all three to the "Locked Door" Contest Editor of The Constitution. For the best selections submitted. The Constitution will give prizes of $10, $5 and $2.50 and the next ten winners will get two tickets to see and hear the new United Artists all-talking screen success "The Locked Door" at Keith's Georgia this week.

DOC WATERS TOLD ME THE SHANTYBOAT WITH THE CHRISTMAS TREES WAS GONE HE ALSO SAID THAT BEN BIGSTAFF, THE MAN WHO OWNED IT THOUGHT WE BOYS CUT IT LOOSE BECAUSE HE CHASED US OUT OF IT. THAT MADE ME SORE.

"MISTER BIGSTAFF," I SAID, "WE DIDN'T WANT ANY THING IN YOUR HOUSEBOAT, AND WE DIDN'T GET SORE WHEN YOU CHASED US OUT, AND IF YOU THINK WE CUT YOUR BOAT LOOSE, YOU ARE MAKING A BAD GUESS!"

STARTED FOR THE DOOR BUT DOC CALLED ME BACK. "HAWKINS," SAID DOC, "I WANT YOU AND YOUR BOYS TO FIND MISTER BIGSTAFF'S BOATLOAD OF CHRISTMAS TREES!" I WAS STILL SORE BUT DOC SMILED LIKE OLD TIMES SO I PROMISED.

DOC SAID, "BEN IS AN OLD FRIEND OF MINE,
I HOPE YOU FIND HIS BOAT!" "DON'T WORRY,
I SAID, "WE ALWAYS FIND WHAT WE LOOK FOR "YES," SAID DOC, "ESPECIALLY WHEN YOU ARE LOOKING FOR TROUBLE!" THEN I BEAT IT QUICK

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Just as an African-bound liner was about to sail. two last-minute passengers came aboard. One evidently was an old lady, heavily veiled, and so weakened by the infirmities of age she had to be wheeled up the gangway by a young man who stated the invalid was his grandmother. The youth would permit no one to assist him to their stateroom, and, during the long voyage, that was the last seen of the old lady until they disembarked.

The supposed grandson insisted upon doing the steward's work inside their cabin, saying the pressteward's work inside their cabin, saying the presence of strangers was more than the seasick old lady could stand. Outside the cabin—and none there was who knew what he did INSIDE—the youngster was just as any other healthy, normal boy. He mingled with the passengers, and became a favorite with the officers and men. But to the politely curious questions concerning his. "grand-ma" he was oddly silent.

Among the passengers who sought the boy's acquaintance, with the least success, was a noted crook "wanted" in a dozen countries. He had paid little attention to the youth until one day he had seen him accidentally display a large roll of bank notes. From that moment the noted blackguard schemed to find means of transferring that money to his own pocket. Clever as he was, he had bee unsuccessful up to the day they landed on the African coast.

BY CAPITOL VIEW LEAGUE MEMBERS Officer Demoted

John C. Mackey, for the past three years president of the Capitol View Civic League, Monday night was pre sented a hardsome gold watch for his "unselfish service to the organization and the community" by members of the league at a meeting in his honor held at the Capitol View school.

The affair had been arranged as a tribute to Mr. Mackey, but the presentation tribute to Mr. Mackey, but the presentation was a surprise.

J. P. Bevel, vice-president, was placed in the chair to preside over the meeting, and the presentation was made by Charles M. Ford.

A musical program by the Electrical Workers' quartet and the Lay Boys' quartet was rendered. Harry Cooper, well-known to radio audiences, played the piano. Little Miss Gloria Matthews danced several numbers and Paul C. Maddox gave a semi-humorous talk on "My Home Town."

Mr. Mackey was praised for his Mr. Mackey was praised for his Mr. Whalen thought differently.
